HUGGINS TRIAL

Held at Hotel Latham Last Tuesday.

Court Martial With Due Regard to Military Forms and Requirements.

The court martial to try Sergt. Anson Huggins Tuesday, was held at Hotel Latham and occupied nearly the whole day. The verdict was sent under seal to Gov. Beckham, and will be given out by him.

A number of witnesses were introduced to prove that Sergt. Huggins left the military camp at West Point without permission. The prisoner admitted the main fact but claimed there were mitigating circumstances.

The defense was conducted by Attorney John Feland. Judge Advocate Berry objected to the testimony showing extenuating circumstances, but President Powers overruled the objection and the evidence was heard.

Sergt. Huggins testified in his own behalf. He said he went on the long hike on short rations. He had only four small slices of bacon and half a loaf of bread for three meals. He ate all the meat for supper, had only bread for breakfast and nothing for dinner and ate nothing until he reached camp at 8 o'clock the next night. He said his feet were so badly blistered and the leaders were so drawn that he could hardly walk. He answered roll call and asked Capt. Long for permission to miss drill. He was sent to the surgeon, who refused a certificate without an examination. He again reported and Capt. Long told him he must drill as usual. That afternoon he bought a pair of shoes a size and a half too large on account of his swollen feet. He then purchased a ticket, and came home, arriving at 2 a. m. He explained to his father, who left next morning before he awoke leaving a message for him to return to camp that afternoon, but when he tried to get up he found he was unable to do so, and was in bed three days.

He said he was unfamiliar with the articles of war. His father, R. H. Huggins, corroborated defendant's testimony.

Sergt. Stanley West, Tom Witty, Dick Cannon, Elmo Lacy, Coleman Lacy, Chas. Cassler, Robt. Hille, and Jas. Quarles also testified in his favor, corroborating his statements in regard to his feet.

Capt. Feland and Judge Advocate Berry argued the case at the conclusion of the testimony.

The court will find young Huggins guilty, but the sentence is expected to be a light one. The offense is punishable by fine, imprisonment or dishonorable discharge.

ORANGE SHIPMENTS

Through Hopkinsville Heaviest For Many Years.

The orange shipments through Hopkinsville from Florida to Chicago and the Northwest this season are the heaviest known in the past six or seven years. This heavy business is attributed in a measure to the very much larger demand from the Chicago market. Herefore the bulk of this business has gone to New York and the East, but it is believed to have been turned in this direction permanent.

LOST A LEG.

Limb Fractured in An Accident Was Amputated.

James Parham, the little Trenton boy whose leg was fractured by being run over by a vehicle about three weeks ago, lost the limb. Blood poison set up and it became necessary to take of the leg in order to save his life. He is now doing well.

THANKSGIVING SERMON

By Dr. W. W. Hamilton, Who is Conducting Baptist Meeting.

The meeting at the Baptist church, which began Monday night, started out with excellent prospects. Dr. W. W. Hamilton, of Louisville, is making a fine impression on all who hear him by the earnestness and spiritual power of his sermons. He has a fine voice, a graceful and easy style in the pulpit and is in all respects an attractive speaker. He rivets attention at the start and holds the interest of his hearers throughout. On Tuesday night two persons went forward for prayer and the interest is increasing every service. A general revival is expected and hoped for.

Dr. Hamilton preached the usual Thanksgiving sermon at the Union Tabernacle yesterday.

Business houses were closed and a great crowd heard the able young divine in a fine sermon.

There was no afternoon service at the Baptist church yesterday, the night meeting being held as usual.

The regular hours are 3 and 7 o'clock p. m.

CASH DRAWER ROBBED.

Work of Burglars Will Be Investigated.

The store of R. H. Farmer & Co., at Nortonville, was broken open Sunday night and robbed of about $10 in cash. The goods were not disturbed. Two men, giving their names as James Fulkerson and Robt. Newman, were arrested and taken to Madisonville, where they waived examination and were sent to jail to await the action of the grand jury.

LITTLE MEADOW MICE

The Naturalist Finds in Them an Interesting Subject.

How One Industrious Creature Tan-
neled Under His Boots
—Next Part of Baby
Mice.

It was a bright morning in the late summer, and, clad in rubber hip boots and a waterproof coat, I lay in the wet grass at the edge of a swamp, watching a family of muskrats, who were busy with some work which I was anxious to see more of. But they were not in the least interested in my observations, and, inconsiderately,
moved away long before I had finished with them. I was about to follow, when something moving in the grass nearby attracted my attention. There was something pushing its way along under some matted dead grass, which heaved up every few moments, as it was pushed upward with irregular, jerky movements. Presently, at a spot where the grass was thin, there was poked out a little dark-brown head, with a blunt, beak-like snout, and small, black, beady eyes, and short ears, almost buried in the fur. It was the head of a meadow mouse, one of the myriad little beings which live their harmless, quiet lives in our low-lying meadows and marshes, and of which most of us see nothing save an occasional specimen brought in by the cat.
The little creature before me looked about for a moment, and, seeing nothing to alarm her, came boldly into the open. Her body, which was the same color as her head, was round and rather stout, and terminated in a very short, straight tail. The legs were also very short, and the body seemed to touch ground as the little creature moved. She nosed about for a few moments, and then stood upright on her hind legs, with her forepaws hanging down in front, turning her head first to the right and then to the left, as if she were looking for some danger.
Nothing alarmed her, so down she dropped on all fours again, and came straight toward me. The first obstacle which she encountered was my leg, and to the problem of getting past this huge barrier she gave her entire attention. First of all she pushed her nose as far as possible under my leg, and then, although it was a very awkward position to pass under it, as she had passed under the grass, by lifting it up

A MEADOW MOUSE.

with her head. But the leg was too heavy, so the plan was abandoned.
There was nothing for it but hard work, so she set to, digging away with both forepaws, looking up every now and then with her bright eyes, shining through a ring of dirt. Whenever a little heap of mould had been scraped under the body, the hind feet were brought into play, and with these the dirt was flung away in the rear. When roots were encountered they were littled through with the teeth, and once
I saw the little mouse bring out a stone in her mouth. It was but a short time before the subway was complete, and the furry engineer came out upon the other side. The knee of my other leg was bent, so there was no difficulty in passing under that one, and away went the mouse until she came to a little mound of drifted rubbish. She seized the end of a long piece of grass in her mouth, and ran off with it at full speed, through the little tunnels she had made, and back to the meadow. She was gone for a few moments, and then she reappeared, made another trip to the pile of rubbish and back with a mouthful of it. I saw this done several times, and then I followed to see what was done with the grass. In the meadow close by I found what I expected,
a sphere of dried grass somewhat larger than a baseball, lying right upon the surface of the ground. Somewhere beneath it was the mouse herself, for she popped out as I approached.

A few days later was the first of September. I remember—I visited the next again, and in it were eight newly-born mice, blind and hairless, whose stocky build and wrinkled and shaggy skins suggested young hippopotami, seen through a reducing glass. I called again the next day, but the nest was empty. The babies had probably sprit-tled the babies away to a new and more secluded home. This instinct to save the lives of their young by removing them from a place of exposure and their careless, is common to many animals, but seems particularly strong in the meadow mouse. The meadow mouse is one of the commonest animals in North America,
that it is not more often seen is due partly to the fact that it is chiefly nocturnal in its habits, and partly to its quiet, inconspicuous ways. Nevertheless wherever it goes, it leaves traces of its presence, in the form of little footprints winding about among the grass roots which stretch in every direction.
These footprints are first cleared by the biting off of such grass roots as stand in the way, and are further deepened by constant use.

ERNEST HAROLD BAYNES

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

Interesting events have recently occurred in the harness racing world,
and records have been broken several times. At

George H. Ketchum

Memphis by trotting a mile in 1:58.7, completely scap-ing all previous records. Not only has he trotted distinguished himself, but the pacer has come in for a share of the glory. Four times this year the trotting mark has been shattered or tied, while the side-wheelers have three changed their blue-ribbon figures. Dan Patch, the pacing king, was the first, cutting the record in 1:55, then came Prince Albert with 1:57, and now Dan Patch has placed the latest figures at 1:56.4. Then came Lou Dillon at Redville, Mass., August 24, when the Billings mare clocked some minutes flat, being the first trotter to ever equal those figures. Her glory was not long-lived, however, for September 25 at the Empire City track, Major Delmar tied her, and now come
the figures of Crescens and Lou Dillon in quick succession. George H. Ketchum, breeder, owner and driver of Crescens, handled the reins over his horse in his record-breaking run. Another trotting mark of long standing was Maud's 2:25.3, made with a slightly whiffy. This was broken at Cleveland September 12 by Lou Dillon,
when she, hitherto the old-fashioned vehicle, went in 2:05. Comparison of the intermediate times in these record trials is "dope" that is enjoyed by the followers of the harness horses. The times in the miles made by Dan Patch, Lou Dillon, Prince Albert, Crescens and
Major Delmar are as follows:

Horse	Time	Mile
Dan Patch	1:58.7	1:58.7
Prince Albert	1:57.0	1:57.0
Lou Dillon	1:56.4	1:56.4
Crescens	1:55.0	1:55.0
Major Delmar	1:55.0	1:55.0

The title of "intercollegiate champion club swinger" is held by George E. Mix, a lame student at Yale

George E. Mix

of the title there is a story of suffering and perseverance. That it takes him more interesting than the ordinary athlete. Mr. Mix had a bad accident, and he was in a wheelchair when a lad of four,
to all on an icy pavement, breaking his right leg. The bone was not properly set, and when it had healed
it was discovered that the child would be a cripple for life. During the period between four and 14 Mr. Mix was a pale, sickly boy, whose physicians finally gave him up, telling his parents that no possible earthly cure would be effected. Then was the boy of 14 displayed the indomitable will that has marked his career ever since. Having read somewhere that rigid physical training would of-times cure the chronic invalid, he joined, without consulting his parents,
a Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium. Here he took up Indian club swinging. But the training was long and difficult to travel, for the clubs were heavy, and the swinging of them physical torture for many, many weeks. Yet he persevered, and at last by his health began to mend. Straggled he grew from a sickly crippled lad into a strong, broad-shouldered youth, whose brawn and muscle are to-day the envy of many a college athlete. He is the only lame student in the history of Yale's athletes who has secured the much coveted Yale Y.
Two years he has held the university championship, winning two silver cups. He has also twice won first prize in dual meets between Yale and Columbia, securing a gold medal on each occasion. In 1932 he won third place in the intercollegiate gymnastic championship meet at Philadelphia. It was at this year's intercollegiate gymnastic meet at New York university that the title of "Yale's intercollegiate champion club swinger" was conferred upon him. Aside from his prowess as an athlete, Mr. Mix has won literary honors. He is regarded as one of the ablest debaters in his class at Yale,
is the vice president of the Yale Athletic club, and has been self-supporting for seven years, holds at present responsible positions with two of the leading
New Haven firms.

Terry McGovern, former featherweight champion of the world, was given the decision over Jimmy Briggs,
of Chelsea, the other night, after hard 15 round battle before the Criterion Athletic club, at Boston. For ten rounds his ex-champion seemed to have lost his old-time cunning and even a favorable decision for him seemed doubtful. Toward the end, however, superior ring generalship
told the story, and he had the season by completely at his mercy.

C. E. Norris, of San Francisco, left that city August 8, 1935, on a walk to New York, and was reported at Midwestville, N. Y., where he walked 3,000 miles up to the top of
at the Erie Park Hotel, where he rested, and he had a total of 10
the 10 kilometer (6.2 miles) record
to one hour 11 minutes and 14
18.4 seconds.

RAPIDLY GROWING FUEL.

Eucalyptus Wood May Take Place of Coal if Lateral Falls.

It is said that of all the tropical trees which have been planted in the United States those of the genus Eucalyptus have attained the greatest popularity. Only a few of the 150 varieties that belong to that group have been tried, but more are likely to be introduced in time. Some are well adapted to arid climates; some grow in arid regions, while some need moisture and warmth; some are found in tropical swamps, says the New York Tribune.

For wind breaks, for shade and for a number of other purposes these trees have developed marked popularity. One of the strongest recommendations they have is that some species grow with singular rapidity, although their wood is hard. No doubt, the timber will find many uses in building. Already it is employed for the piers of Santa Barbara, Cal. At present large quantities are grown and cut for fuel in that state. A writer in "The Scientific American" says:

As to the rapidly of growth and consequent value of eucalyptus as a wood supply, it is interesting to know that when they are five to seven years old groves of blue gum or manna gum may be cut to the ground for fuel and they may be cut every six or eight years thereafter. The yield from each cutting is commonly from 50 to 75 cords of four foot wood an acre. One 17-acre grove between Los Angeles and Compton, set in 1880 and cut for the third time in June, 1900, produced 1,360 cords, an average of 80 cords of four-foot wood an acre.

In much of the southwest there is no known species that can take the place of other rapidly disappearing woods, and at the same time supply the increasing demand for hardwood fuel. In California the leaves as well as the wood are utilized for fuel purposes. A Los Angeles company is making for market bricks composed of blue gum leaves and twice mixed with crude oil, and the product is reported to be an excellent fuel for domestic use. The entire tree is thus utilized. This new use of eucalypt leaves suggests the possibility of many industries growing out of the extensive planting of the trees.

The phenomenally rapid growth of these trees has been demonstrated in the groves of Ellwood Cooper, near Santa Barbara, Cal., where blue gums planted 25 years ago are as large as oaks whose rings show them to be 200 years old.

MISSED THEIR GUESSES.

Of Five Men Applying for Insurance Two Rejected Lived Longest.

A few years after the civil war B. H. Ingram was agent at Sedalia for a Milwaukee life insurance company, says the Kansas City Journal. At about that time the company raised the limit of its beneficiaries to $50,000 and asked Mr. Ingram to write a few policies for that sum. The president of the company offered to make liberal terms to five men whom Mr. Ingram might select. He chose Col. A. J. Jaynes, Capt. John M. Sneed, John R. Barrett, John T. Heard and Maj. Richard H. Melton. All of these agreed to be insured, and Mr. Ingram forwarded their papers. A few days later he received word from the head office that Jaynes, Sneed and Barrett had been accepted, but that Heard and Melton had been rejected. He tried hard to get Heard and Melton accepted, but the company positively refused, saying they had physical disabilities that made them bad risks. The result shows what keen foresight insurance companies sometimes display and also illustrates the uncertainty of human life. The president of the company, the examining surgeon, the men who wrote the policies and the three men who were accepted are now all dead, but Mr. Heard and Maj. Melton, the two "bad risks," are still living and enjoying good health at a green old age. Mr. Heard is at Sedalia and has served his district in congress. Maj. Melton resides at Clinton.

A FACT ABOUT THE "BLUES"

What is known as the "Blues" is seldom occasioned by actual existing external conditions, but in the great majority of cases by a disordered LIVER.

THIS IS A FACT which may be demonstrated by trying a course of

Tutt's Pills

They control and regulate the LIVER. They bring hope and buoyancy to the mind. They bring health and elasticity to the body.

Are in Washington

Gen. John B. Castleman and Mr. Logan Murray are in Washington for the purpose of urging the selection of an army post site near Louisville.

A child of Mrs. Geo. T. Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought it would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep, and in less than two days he was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Keller, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment (and especially valuable for cuts, bruises and sprains). For sale by Cook & Higgins, druggists.

Failed to Show Up.

Two of the six young dentist indicted for practicing without diploma failed to appear in the Criminal Court and bench warrants were issued for their arrests.

Watch the Children.

Children need a parent's closest attention in matters of health, and particularly in carefully observing the functions of digestion and working perfectly. From the little baby to the rollicking boy or the petted girl, the occasional use of Chamberlain's Cough Syrup will give the greatest kind of health builder. How many of us remember during our childhood the time when the bottle of Castor Oil was taken from the shelf and father or mother coaxed us to take it. Children like Syrup Pepsin; take it as they would honey. All druggists sell it.

Died in Hospital.

Abraham Epstein, forty-five years of age, died at the city hospital in Louisville from blood poisoning resulting from a broken leg.

"One of my children was taken with cramp colic and suffered severely," says S. B. Elze, of Moccasin, Mo. "I telephoned for a doctor, then gave a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and a few minutes later a second dose. Before the doctor came the child was relieved." QUEER CAUSES OF FIRES.

Cat May Have Set Gin Ablaze—A Justice's Experience.

"A fire insurance adjuster runs afoul of many queer happenings," said one of these gentlemen a short time ago, according to the New Orleans Times Democrat.

"I once had to adjust a fire loss in a country cotton gin. The gin wasn't totally destroyed, and the origin of the fire was a complete mystery, not a soul in connection with the gin being able to explain the cause of the fire. All precautions necessary in a steam gin plant had been carefully observed and no fire or matches had been permitted near the cotton. After careful investigation with no results I began to examine the burned part of the building, and it struck me that some substance might have struck the teeth of the gin and ignited the cotton. After a most careful search, what do you think I found? Some small charred bones, which offered sufficient explanation. I showed the bones to the manager of the gin, and after thinking a moment he exclaimed: 'Why, that's all that's left of our old cat and her kittens.' He said that he had missed the cat and kittens, but thought they had been destroyed in the fire and never dreamed that they had caused the fire. From this explanation it appeared that the cat took her kittens to the cotton bin above the gin, and, having gone to sleep, was carried down into the gin, and the bones striking the saws caused the fire.

"Another case came under my observation which caused me some amusement. A saloon keeper had a fire, during which 18 barrels of whisky were rolled out of the building, and after the fire was put out they were rolled back. The damage was very slight on the building and stock, but he claimed a loss of about one-third of each barrel of whisky rolled out, caused, as he claimed, by leak age. The barrels were gauged, but I didn't believe him and held up his claim. I soon afterward got hold of the revenue inspector for the district and got his report on the man's whisky, which proved that at the time of the fire there was more whisky in the barrels than there was when the inspector gauged it, which was a violation of the internal revenue law. The inspector took my cue and immediately went down and made another inspection, with the result that the saloon keeper was fined $500 for having contraband whisky on hand, and in addition eight barrels of the liquor were forfeited. Did I pay the claim? Well, I guess not."

HOPE FOR THE BIRDS.

French Milliners Agree Not to Use Stuffed Birds on Hats.

Birds are to be worn more than ever in millinery, but the bird lovers need not despair, for these trimmings birds are made in Paris and never sang a song, says the San Francisco Argonaut. The stuffed bird, in fact, is being eliminated from millinery for what might be termed natural causes.

They have come to be regarded as tasteless by French milliners, as they cannot be handled with all the same ease and effect that the made birds are. The wings of the stuffed bird are stiff, those of the made bird are pliable and easily bent to follow a crown or bent around the hat rim.

The feathers of common birds killed for food or because they are nuisances are used to make these birds.

The much-esteemed heron's egret will not be seen in millinery after the first of the year, the milliners' association having come to an agreement with the Audubon society to that effect. Agrettes, however, will be seen, whose use will not violate this agreement. It is found that peacock and other common feathers can be chemically treated to duplicate almost perfectly the egret.

Cock pheasants are to be very much used. Beautiful specimens are shown, rivaling in exquisite finish the best ostrich plumes. Marabout feathers, too, will be popular and beautiful, and costly feather capes of this and other varieties will be worn by those who can afford them.

A Good Way, Too.

The way to convince some people is by letting them alone—Washington (Pa.) Democrat.

WONDERFUL CURES.

Some of Them in Hopkinsville Seem Like Miracles.

Can't get away from it. "The recital of a wonderful cure Right here in Hopkinsville. Proves the merits of the remedy Beyond dispute.

Read this graphic story. "We have, Cooper, of No. 493 North Main street, a case of a lad bearing down pain across my kidneys and through the small of my back made it so painful for me to stoop or lift anything that I was unable to do any work or to have any pleasure. Whenever I took cold it settled in my back and at night bothered me a great deal while lying in bed. Sharp twinges often kept me awake for hours and in the morning I arose feeling tired and devoid of all energy and ambition. The condition of the kidneys was especially annoying and distressing at night. I doctored by used many remedies until I became discouraged, for instead of getting better I seemed to grow worse. Finally I happened to read an advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills, and as they were highly recommended by people near by, I could not help but believe that they were a good remedy. I got a box at Thomas & Travers's drug store, and after using them a few days I could see a decided improvement. I kept on with the treatment and the pains in my back left me entirely and the action of the kidneys was restored to a normal and healthy condition."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Beware of cheap name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

The Best Remedy for Croup.

This is the season when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is needed in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The croup remedies are almost as sure to be lost, in case of croup, as a revolver is sure to be lost in case of burglary. There is an old fashioned remedy for croup, known as hays syrup and tulu, but some modern mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better, and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up the phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by Cook & Higgins, druggists.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

White Claims the Election and Edwards Attacks Dr. Hunter.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 24.—The tabulation of the vote cast in the Eleventh district, was today postponed until next Monday for further hearing. White claims that the election is not legal. Edwards wants all the notes of Hunter thrown out, because he says Hunter was not a nominee of the Republican party and had no right to the Log Cabin device. Hunter has a plurality on the face of all the returns.

Guard your kidneys; the health of the body depends on those small but important organs. They extract uric acid from the blood, which if allowed to remain in the system would cause dropsy and Bright's disease. ALL NEXT WEEK.

One of the Strongest Stock Companies on the Road Coming.

In these degenerate days of bad farce, worse vaudeville, and blood-curdling melodrama, which is the general offering of most of the traveling aggregations, it seems like a ray of sunshine on a rainy day to be able to announce the coming of an attraction that appeals to all that is best in amusement seeking. The Robert Sherman Stock Company, which is one of the strongest and most popular on the road, will be seen at the Opera House every night next week, beginning Monday night, Nov. 30. This company comes stamped with the record of a series of unbroken successes on its tour throughout the country. On the opening night, Rebt. Sherman presents his own great comedy, "A Narrow Escape." Prices 10, 20 and 30c. Ladies will be admitted free Monday night when accompanied by a person with a paid 30c ticket, reserved before 7 o'clock Monday evening at the Postal Telegraph office.

CLARKSVILLE COUPLE.
Unique Marriage of Prominent Tennessee Couple At Galt House Louisville

Louisville Ky., Nov. 24.—A Unique wedding took place this evening at 6 o'clock in the parlor of the Galt House, when Rev. A. P. McFerrin of Clarksville, united the lives of Mrs. Lizzie Elliott and Mr. John Hurst, also of Clarksville. The unusual feature of the affair lay in the fact that the daughters of both Mrs. Elliott and Mr. Hurst and their husbands, Messrs. Wesley Drane and Austin Peay, were the attendants. The bride, altho she is a grandmother, is unusually young and handsome in appearance and has been a widow for over twenty years.

Both are prominent in Clarksville socially and in business. They came to Louisville in order to have as quiet a wedding as possible and brought the Rev. A. P. McFerrin with them. Mrs. Elliott is related to Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Batte, of this city, and is well known here. After the ceremony a dinner was served and the couple left on a trip to New Orleans and Cuba and on their return will live in Clarksville.

PROF. HATFIELD TO RESIGN

As Superintendent of the Paducah Public School.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 25.—C. B. Hatfield Superintendent of Public School of Paducah, to day notified Secretary Arch Sutherland, of the Board of Education, that he would resign at the next meeting December 1. He gave no reasons, but it is believed to be the outgrowth of Prof. Hatfield's trouble is the school last summer, when three principals were dropped. Since then an anti Hatfield board has been elected and takes charge January 1. Superintendent Hatfield has been in charge of the school three years and three months.

HANCOCK CONVICTED.

Will Serve Eighteen Months in Federal Prison.

F. B. Hancock, of Casky, who was indicted in the Federal Court at Owensboro last spring on a charge of fraudulent use of the mails, was tried at Owensboro Tuesday and given eighteen months in the penitentiary. He had been out on bond since a few days after the bill was found. Hancock, it seems, represented himself as a merchant at Casky, using stationery on which his name was printed as a dealer in general merchandise. In this manner it is claimed he secured large quantities of goods from wholesale merchants all over the country, for which he never paid.

He was proprietor of what is known as the Crowwood nursery and was a very successful berry grower.

He will be sent to the Atlanta, Ga., Federal prison.

Old Mother Nature has never been improved upon—sometimes she needs a little assistance over hard places though.

But when we assist her, the nearer we keep to her own methods and processes the better. Sometimes the digestive organs need help; we have indigestion. Pepsin is what nature has selected to do the work of digestion in the stomach; hence, the best help to digestion is pepsin. The pleasant and most beneficial way to take pepsin is with pure port wine, as combined in Walther's Peptonized Port, and sold by Anderson & Fowler and Jas. O. Cook, druggists in that form. The port is itself a valuable tonic.

Saved From the Maelstrom of Catarrh. How Pe-ru-na Saves Life.

MRS. COL. E. J. GRESHAM, Treasurer Daughters of the Confederacy, and President Herndon Village Improvement Society, writes the following letter from Herndon, Fairfax county, Virginia:
Herndon, Va.
The Peru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:
Gentlemen—“I cannot speak too highly of the value of Peru-na. I believe that I owe my life to its wonderful merits. I suffered with catarrh of the head and lungs in its worst form, until the doctors fairly gave me up, and I despaired of ever getting well again. “I noticed your advertisement and the splendid testimonials given by people who had been cured by Peru-na, and I determined to try a bottle. I felt but little better, but used a second and a third bottle and kept on improving slowly. “It took six bottles to cure me, but they were worth a king's ransom to me. I talk Peru-na to all my friends and am a true believer in its worth.”
—Mrs. Col. E. J. Gresham.
Thousands of women owe their lives to Peru-na. Tens of thousands owe their health to Peru-na. Hundreds of thousands are praising Peru-na in every state in the Union. We have on file a great multitude of letters, with written permission for use in public print, which can never be used for want of space. Address The Peru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O., for a book written especially for women, instructively illustrated, entitled “Health and Beauty.” Sent free to women.

Commissioner's Sale.
Christian Circuit Court, Kentucky.
B. N. Stunnett,
Against
F. A. Wilkins & Co.,
Equity.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Christian Circuit Court, rendered at the September term thereof, 1903, in the above cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the court house door in Hopkinsville, Ky., to the highest bidder, at public auction, on Monday, the 7th day of December, 1903, at 11 o'clock a. m., or thereabout, (being county court day) upon a credit of six months, the following described property, to-wit:

A certain tract or parcel of land, situated in Christian county, Ky., and being the same land conveyed to F. A. Wilkins, and Lee Nora Wilkins, by deed of J. B. Carpenter and C. T. Williams, executors of C. Neacham, dec'd., and recorded in deed book No. 99, page 111, dated Dec. 3d, 1898, and is bounded as follows: On the east by the lands of James Woodford and Horace Henderson; on the west by the lands of Jim and Otis Carpenter; on the south by the lands of James Henderson; and on the north by the lands of J. H. Fuller, and containing 150 acres. Or sufficient thereof to produce the sum of money ordered to be made, amounting to $482.35. For the purchase price, the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or securities, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a replevin bond. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

CARRIE ON A RAMPAGE.

Put Out of the White House and the Senate.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Carrie Nation visited the capitol and went on a rampage. Early in the morning she visited the White House, demanded to see the president, declaring that she was going to give him a temperance lecture that he would not forget. When she was refused she raised a row that could be heard for squares, screaming and shouting at the top of her voice. An effort was made to quiet her, but she got worse and she was escorted from the grounds, still keeping up her noise and yelling like a crazy woman.

When the senate opened she took her place in the gallery and standing, commenced shouting against the saloon and abusing the senators, not passing prohibitory laws. She would not obey the rules of the place and made such a disturbance when she was spoken to that she was finally arrested and taken to police headquarters and locked up.

APPETITE FOR FIVE.

Handel and Haydn Among Those Who Were Voracious Diners.

The majority of the great musical composers had appetites on an equality with their talents. It is told of Handel that when he dined alone at a restaurant he always took the precaution to order the meal for three.

Once on asking: "Is dinner ready?" where he was little known, says Stray Stories, he got the reply: "As soon as the company comes," and astonished the waiter by seating himself with the remark: "Den pring up de dinner. I'm de company."

The appetite of Haydn was yet more voracious. He delighted in dining alone, and always finished the meal ordered for five persons. A former duke of Norfolk also found a dinner of five "portions" within the scope of his appetite.

Lucullus reserved all his sumptuous feasts for when he was quite alone, and it was on one of these occasions that he upbraided his cook for serving him a dinner that only cost about $300 and gave him a list of the dishes he should prepare "when Lucullus dined with Lucullus."

Brillat-Savarin immortalized the Cure de Brequier, and tells us that at a single sitting this renowned gentleman would eat as much food as would serve a working man for ten days.

Brillat-Savarin once saw him demolish in three-quarters of an hour "a quart of soup, a plate of bouilli, a large leg of mutton, a superb haunch, a colossal salad, a pound or two of cheese, a prodigious quantity of bread, a bottle of wine, another of water and a cup of coffee."

The Vicomte de Viel Castel, on a wager that he would consume $100 worth of food and wine within two hours, won the money in one hour and 40 minutes, in which he swallowed 24 dozen oysters, a soup, a beefsteak, a pheasant stuffed with truffles, a salmi of ortolans, a dish of asparagus, another of young peas, a pineapple, a dish of strawberries and five bottles of wine, ending with coffee and liquors.

HOWELLS DISLIKES FLATTERY

And Tells a Story Supposed to Point a Moral.

William Dean Howells has acted as the literary godfather for many young native authors who sought him out early in their careers to ask his good offices. One of these, at least, was not ungrateful; for when he "arrived" and had reached that position where his say in literary affairs meant something, he never lost an opportunity to say nice things of the author of "Silas Lapham." On one occasion, says the Philadelphia Ledger, the younger author made an address before a body of literary men in which he virtually asserted that everything good and great in native literature owed its inspiration to Howells. The address was printed far and wide and commented on at length, not always in a manner complimentary to its author. Howells' attention was, naturally, called to the matter, and he wrote his protegee a letter in which he involved a story of two men who, bathing at the seashore, were seen struggling and crying for help. A crowd gathered to watch the efforts of the life guards, who could hear above the roar of the ocean and the noise made by the crowd a voice bellowing:

"Save the red-haired man! Save him first! The red-haired man, sure!"

Both men were saved, and the guards, going after the excitable fellow on the beach in the hope of gratuity, asked:

"Red-headed chap relation o' yours, sir?"

"No—no relative at all," he replied; "but he owes me $19."

Jewels on an Idol.

The jewels of an Indian idol were worth some 50,000 rupees, and made of sovereign gold, studded with diamonds, emeralds and rubies, the largest emerald being valued at 1,000 rupees and the biggest ruby and diamond at 300 rupees apiece.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS.

The Henderson Route—"Always First."

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 24, 1903.—The traveling public will be pleased to learn of the latest innovation in the way of comfort in travel for its patrons which is now being offered by that great Henderson route. The "Henderson Route," which road has been rightly termed the "Traveler's Official Route."

It has just been announced from the general office of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis railway that they now have in service on their night trains between Louisville and St. Louis, free reclining chair cars, which have just been received from the shops and are a revelation in the car builder's art.

The cars are strictly up to date, first-class "palaces of travel" on wheels, and which are promised the public by the Henderson Route. Among other advantages offered in these highly finished cars, a few of the most important points only are mentioned:

They are solidly vestibuled and are furnished with sixty-four reclining chairs, which are upholstered in beautiful green plush, in addition to smoking and toilet rooms being furnished throughout in leather. They are also fitted up with triple trucks, which feature will do away with the jerk, for a strain incident to travel in the ordinary railway coach, and insures a smooth, comfortable ride. This should prove more than a popular feature in train service to the traveling public, and we can only suggest that in traveling you "get the Henderson Route" habit.

It is dangerous for one to take patent medicines of unknown composition.

When a person is really sick, the best course is to call a physician. Often times, however, a person is run down and out of sorts, without being actually sick.

At such times a good common sense digestive tonic is usually all that is needed.

Such a tonic is Walthers' Peppermint Cure, which you can get at Anderson & Fowler & Jas. O. Cook, druggists. It consists simply of pure port wine and pure pepper. The first gives richness of flavor, the second promotes a perfect performance of the digestive functions.

BALDHEADED CLUB.

Dramatic Scene When Acting President Is Elected.

The Meeting Stampeded By A Speech By Col. John Phelps.

IT looked like old times to see the rows of gleaming pates that filled the room Saturday night, in response to the call issued by seven ex-presidents for a meeting of the Baldheaded Club. The entire assemblage looked like the front row at an exhibition of "living pictures." As the call had been published in the Kentuckian, of course everybody had seen it and to use the words of a well known literary light, "great excitement prevailed."

Although the hour of meeting was not until twelve o'clock, some of the more enthusiastic members were in their seats at eleven.

Nearly all of the married men had been able to obtain furloughs and even the old stagers like Col. J. O. Cooper and Col. A. W. Pyle were on hand anxious to see the whole show.

The more distinguished members as they came in were given a round of applause.

Col. E. B. Bassett, fresh from the strenuous exploits of the terrible fields of bloodless carnage at West Point, bore himself with the same unselfish modesty that characterized him before he became a sure enough military man.

Col. Wm. L. Bamberger's grand entry brought down the house. There are no lies on Col. Bamberger. His title is anything but an empty honor. In addition to his other honors, he has become a politician of recognized sagacity. His achievements in the last campaign have caused him to be given a new title by his admirers, who playfully refer him as the Count of Beverly, because the count can always be depended upon whenever Col. Bamberger is placed in command at Beverly.

Col. W. T. Cooper was recognized by his beautiful sunset whiskers, and when he removed his Dunlap hat, it was discernible to the naked eye that the ball spot on the back of his head was still there.

Col. Walter Kelly has never been accused of being backward about coming forward and he entered with the air of a man who felt at home in any crowd of baldheaded men.

Col. Lem McKee had lost none of his old time popularity. His triumphs on the stage, some months ago, when he distinguished himself as the "Fat Lady" and astonished a vast audience by his feats of strength and dexterity, had given him increased renown, and the applause that greeted his entrance was so vigorous that the b-ming colonel was compelled to stop and shake hands with himself.

Col. Buck Lovell was another popular hero who was given an ovation. His recent spectacular dash through the streets of Hopkinsville and grand marshal of the Rock-Hill parade, made up largely of beautiful young ladies on horseback, created such a profound sensation that the colonels availed themselves of the first opportunity to do him proud.

But in the midst of the applause following the entrance of Col. W. R. Howell, he clock struck the hour for the meeting to begin.

Col. John Phelps at once took the floor and in fervent speech that shook the plastering loose from the walls, nominated as acting president "One of our most distinguished members." He kept them guessing, as he poured out a flood of eloquence in a few minutes, while Col. B. Howell, Col. George Galt, Col. Bob Woodruff and several others began to be seriously embarrassed by the growing conviction in their minds that they were about to be dragged from their seats like Cincinnatus was taken from his plow.

But the orator gradually allowed his language to assume a directness that dissipated doubts. At last he declared: "If we have a President of the United States who won his spurs at San Juan Hill, why should not this club honor itself by electing a President whose charge at Winesap Hill, should make him as dear to each of our members as the apple of his eye?" Pandemonium reigned. Col. Phelps was not permitted to finish his speech. The hero of West Point was caught upon the crest of a tidal wave of enthusiasm that swept him with one accord into the President's chair. No vote was taken. The movement was spontaneous, universal and irresistible. Never since William Jennings Bryan stamped the Chicago convention in 1896, has such a scene followed the matchless enunciation of a born orator.

When Col. Bassett came to himself he was in the chair, and as soon as the excitement subsided he called the meeting to order.

"Words are inadequate," he said, "to express my feelings as I stand here the recipient of this great honor. I will act as your President to-night, but only for to-night. Duty calls me elsewhere and a soldier's first lesson is that duty's call must not go unheeded. On the 8th of December the entire forces of the State will be assembled under the guns of Arsenal Hill at Frankfort, ready to follow the colonels on the Governor's staff, if need be, into the mouth of the tunnel. I will be there. It is not for me to lay aside the sword for the gavel. There are other members who deserve any honor you could bestow and to one of these I shall relinquish the gavel at the next meeting."

This announcement made, President Bassett directed the roll to be called. There were few absentees among the members who were enrolled when the club adjourned for the summer, and a number of applicants for membership were reported to be in waiting in the ante-room.

Col. H. H. Abernathy, W. A. Wilgus and James West were designated as a committee to repair to the ante-room and examine the candidates and make appropriate recommendations. They soon returned and recommended the admittance of several applicants, classified as hereinafter.

Barren Landscapes—Prof. H. Clay Smith, Capt. L. W. Whitlow, Sparry Plumage—Dr. C. H. Tandy, Wallace Kelly, B. B. Rieker, Circular Cleanings—Dr. J. B. Jackson, W. H. Nixon.

All were elected and at once escorted to seats.

Col. W. R. Howell offered a resolution providing that a banquet be given by the Baldheaded Club at Hotel Latham at some suitable date during the holidays. Col. Ed. Galtner spoke in support of the resolution and generously offered to defray the entire expense. The resolution was adopted by a voting vote and Col. Howell, Galtner and Whitlow were appointed a committee to arrange for the banquet.

Col. H. W. Tibbs offered a resolution expressing satisfaction that every member of the City Council, with a single exception, was eligible to membership in the Baldheaded Club. The resolution was passed.

President Bassett suggested that the election of a president be made a special order for 1215 o'clock at the next meeting and a motion was made and adopted embodying his suggestion.

Some further business of a routine nature was disposed of and the club adjourned.

Fashion Notes!

Shown by the "Independent Peerless Pattern Co." Try Frankel's Patterns. Seam allowing.

To give the drooping shoulder effect seems to be the thought of the hour, epaulettes, straps and capes being introduced when the body itself is not extended down on the sleeves. Capes, too, lend themselves admirably to this style and they are used to excellent advantage on a jacket costume pictured on page 2 of the Peerless Fashion Sheet for December. This sheet is given free at Frankel's.

Sleeves still bag at the wrist and cling quite closely to the arm above and many new varieties are shown in this issue. Tucked panels lend additional interest to a stylish skirt having five gores which are extended to form a yoke. This skirt is shown in conjunction with a three-quarter corset coat on cover page of the sheet, and since the season of the gift making is at hand some good hints on doll dressing may be gained by referring to page 7.
